MAR JON OIL TO DRILL NORTH

OF T. VALLEY

The Mar-Jon Oil Company has been over 1,800 feet in the structure north of Turner Valley following the strike at that field. If drilling operations will be successful, the company expects to produce 200,000 barrels of oil.

Another company which is substantially interested in the two fields is the Turner Valley Development Co. which has acquired 2500 acres on the structure. The company has been drilling the well which it gave 40,000 shares in the company.

In addition the East Central company is also interested in the structure. It has been drilling a well slightly east of the Home No. 2, which the company issued 100,000 shares in the company.

Preparations are being made to start in the first well of the Development Co. in the structure with central part of Turner Valley. The company has been drilling 18 T.P. 10, 18, 22, W.5, on acreage owned by Kermac Petroleum Co. and is now drilling a well at Dalhousie 8 in the same general area is believed to be due to oil conditions.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly
Amateur Draft
N.H.L. Decline
New Order

OVER the week-end, Dr. W. G. Hardy, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, took a jaunt to Saskatoon to attend the course of a conference there with Saskatchewan officials he made a number of interesting announcements. Chief of these was that plans are now being considered which would require the N.H.L. to pay a draft price to amateur clubs from whom they lift players.

For some two years now this claim has been campaigning for that arrangement and it begins to look as if it may come to pass before another season rolls around. Dr. Hardy has legal experts now devising a court-proof contract for amateur players. The C.A.H.A. will pass on the proposal at its annual meeting in Winnipeg in April. To be made effective, a clause covering such drafts will have to be inserted in the present working agreement between the C.A.H.A. and the N.H.L.

A Right Sound Arrangement

THE proposal by Dr. Hardy is basically sound and reasonable. For years the N.H.L. has been picking up professional players from the amateur clubs in Canada and not even saying "thank you" in return. The major league teams were using the whole amateur hockey organization as a glorified farm system for whose operation they didn't have to pay a penny—and paying a pretty hefty major league club more than anything yet discovered.

However a change is gradually taking place. A number of the major league outfits have started picking junior clubs as farm squads. But there will always be good prospects creeping up outside of such farms. It will never be possible to develop these prospects and the majors should make some remuneration for it.

You are probably wondering what third of amateurism is left in Canadian hockey if a draft price is fixed on players. The answer is that the game never was amateur and never will be. I don't say that there hasn't been an occasional team or a few scattered players that are purely amateur, but generally speaking the game has been paid and paid as professional. Even a national dictatorship couldn't enforce a strict amateur code.

However whether you call it professional or amateur doesn't seem to be really matter. The only thing that counts is whether or not the game turns out in sufficient numbers to enable the team to carry on. So far experience has generally shown that a winning team will pay its way regardless of whether the players are paid or not, whereas a losing team as a financial pit prop even if the players buy their own skates and get their own transportation.

The Decline of the N.H.L.

ANY day now you can start writing a history entitled, "The Decline and Fall of the N.H.L. in Canada." Once you had the entire major league in Canada. Now we have only two clubs left. Conny Smythe is already crying that Toronto may have to drop out of the big time. If it does, Montreal will fold up at the same time.

The answer lies in the fact the Dominion junior final at Toronto last spring drew a bigger crowd than any N.H.L. game. That's the way it's going to be. The whole thing is the great fundamental weakness of hockey—its lack of variety in plays and ways of scoring. It has rugged body contact, thrilling speed, a certain amount of skill and it places a premium on stamina and courage. However the majority of players can enjoy as much of these things in junior and senior hockey as they can in major stuff. To appreciate major league issues, these people would have to see a major league outfit playing against amateurs.

It wouldn't be surprising if the next few years found the N.H.L. as entirely U.S. circuit and Canada left entirely to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. This gradual development is one of the chief forces compelling the C.A.H.A. to take on more and more of a professional status in order to keep the game going. The miserable salaries the N.H.L. pays are also biting its throat. I know of a player or two right here in Edmonton who have been offered major league contracts and launched at them. They can play senior hockey, live at home, get extra money for travel and still be the future at the same time—and have as much or more money than a major league star at the end of the season.

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON
HOSKINS won fame by throwing a dummy off the bridge, and being hailed out of the river which he entered from a tugboat. But William Cruchank of White Plains, actually did make the 133-foot dive, as the result of a $5000 wager by his friends that he wouldn't dare. He struck the water head foremost and started to swim ashore. When the current pulled him, he was thrown to his death. He was pulled ashore, but he was pulled ashore.

SOCCER AIDES ATTEND MEETING IN EDMONTON

Local Executive Lays Its Progress and Objective Before Senior Body

Soccer officials of the province and the city had a real get together at the Alberta Curling Club in the Memorial Hall, when the situation in soccer circles here was fully aired, and suggestions offered by the Alberta representatives were put forward to help the local body to keep with the rules and put the grand old game back in the forefront of sport in the city.

Affiliating with the parent body, the local council was promised all the possible help to bring representative teams to the city and provide some real competition to the local teams. Although nothing was known definitely as to a visit from a touring team, it was hoped that the local team would be able to get up and then knock them down.

It is hoped that the local team will be able to get up and then knock them down. It is hoped that the local team will be able to get up and then knock them down.

ADVISE
Advice was also given with regard to the juniors, and strong efforts were made to get the Alberta officials, to establish a junior association to control the game in the junior side of the province.

TO
To another proposal, the Alberta delegates brought with them a trophy which has been donated by the Alberta Curling Club to the junior competition. A really handsome trophy in its kind should be the desired effect of helping the juniors to get together, and these games would also provide some great games at Clarke Stadium.

CONSENT
Some contention arose as to the representation of Edmonton on the senior body, but it was pointed out that as matters stand, the general meeting of that association, it could not have been otherwise, yet the delegates were unanimous in the opinion that at the close of the year, the Edmonton team should be given more representation, should the game develop as hoped in the city.
